In the heart of the village lies a restaurant that offers a diverse menu, including traditional fish and chips and a selection of Chinese dishes. While some diners express disappointment with their meals—citing cold, greasy fish and uninspired pork dishes—many others rave about the exceptional quality and value of the Chinese offerings. Repeatedly praised for its consistently high standard and excellent service, this establishment has garnered a dedicated following despite the occasional long wait. Overall, if you're in search of a reliable takeaway, this restaurant stands out as a top choice in the region.
